

Claim

We claim:

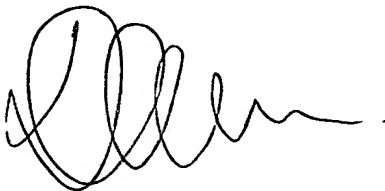

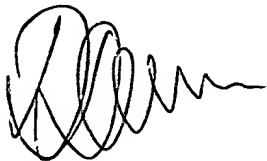

-
1. A computer mouse characterized by using a magnet, to pull the rubber magnetic core ball against the coordinates X and Y shafts only; and there is no third, or any other contact between the ball and any other part of the mouse, especially no third contact between the ball and another wheel

B2

(Fig. 2).

---

David Darian Muresan and David Muresan

Jan. 30th, 2003